

Course in 'Hepatitis C' for Registered Nurses

Sydney Hospital and Sydney Eye Hospital

This annual Course aims to develop/enhance knowledge and understanding of Hepatitis C and related viral infections. It has been established in response to the expressed needs of nursing experts working in this speciality and developed in close collaboration with them, and encompasses areas of practice in inpatient and outpatient and settings in both rural and metropolitan regions.

Many of the Course lecturers are engaged in clinical practice and 'cutting edge' research, and will be able to advise students of emerging findings related to research and clinical practices
